

Executive Coaching

For Business and Personal Leadership

Executive coaching

Highly personalised and individual coaching can help fast-track an individual to the next level of their development and improve their value and contribution to an organisation. Graham's experience is grounded in business development and his knowledge and coaching style is particularly suitable for those in senior, sales, customer service and similar positions.

Business Accelerator

Business Accelerator is a highly practical series of facilitated workshops for senior managers and executives, skilfully led by an experienced and knowledgeable professional.

Free, no-obligation initial consultation

"A one-hour meeting is all it takes for you to decide how executive coaching or business accelerator can you help breakthrough to greater results. I will begin to explain the key concepts and methods in the programs, and discuss what you are looking to achieve over the next six months. Even from this short meeting, I can offer some new ideas and insights. There is no charge or obligation, just an open and informative discussion."

Example benefits:

- Identity strategies to grow your business proactively, systematically and with greater consistency and confidence.
- Manage and lead people with greater accuracy and precision.
- Hands-on assistance with the design and implementation of plans to increase future performance.
- Development of improved processes and more confident decision making, and personal leadership.

About Graham Roberts-Phelps:

- Twenty years in sales and marketing, business consulting and personal development.
- Experienced and professional coach.
- Master trainer in NLP, qualified with Chartered Institute of Marketing.
- Author, consultant, coach and facilitator.
- Telephone and email support in-between sessions.

Graham Roberts-Phelps 07739 847 950

email@grahamphelps.com